MEDIA ABOUT THE ECONOMIC FORUM

euronews.

A mix of criticism and concerns is mounting in Central Europe against the two-speed Europe project. Some of the political leaders of Central Europe gathered at the Economic Forum held earlier this month in Poland's southern city of Krynica. The rift among new and old Europe was on the top of the agenda, with its controversial topics such as the two-speed Europe, the refugee crisis and the posted workers row.

For the 27th time, the regional leaders from the world of politics, business and science are meeting in the resort of Krynica to discuss the great challenges of our time. The organiser of the Krynica Economic Forum could hardly find a better motto for 2017 than "Project: Europe. What Recipe For The Next Decade?"

Frankfurter Allgemeine
ZEITUNG FÜR DEUTSCHLAND

The 27th Krynica Economic Forum addressed not only the current business issues, but also outlined strategic directions for companies, entrepreneurs and the entire Polish economy.

*On a diplomatic level, there has been some tension between Poland and France in the last couple of weeks. Nevertheless, if we combine the Economic strategies and the investment ambitions of these two countries, we cannot NOT notice many similarities in their activities.
The 27th Economic Forum is a perfect example of that.*
